Home automation Over Internet

I already delayed a lot to upload this important update for Home automation project, well i am sure lot of people have been waiting for this. I really want to thank Mansoor Mirza for providing files, Videos and images that are provided here for demonstration.

You can now download project documentation for project "Home Automation Over Internet" as well as power point presnatation. I have also bundled the complete VB software code, C code for microcontroller, schematic diagram, sample images in a single zip file so you need not download multiple files.

Here are some demonstrative images for fully assembled Home auotmation project with real world appliances (Bulb, tube, fan and switches).

Also take a look at this informative video tutorial on how to use this project. Thank you Mansoor for making this video so well explained.
